CHILD-MURDER FACING BRUTAL PARENT

INFANTICIDE CHARGED TO FATHER

Deaths of Two Korean Children Probed and Murder Is Indicated

As a result of testimony offered by Dr. Chu Fong and the contradictory statements made by the parents at the coroner's inquest held last night over the body of the infant daughter of Chin Kim Sut, a Korean, sufficient evidence has been gathered by Attorney Fred W. Milverton to hold the father to the Grand Jury on two charges of infanticide.

Further evidence, taken from the records of the Kaula Children's hospital shows that on July 23, 1911, the six-week-old daughter of the same father, was brought to the hospital and treated for fractures of the legs and arms, alleged to have been received by the infant as the result of a fall.

On July 23, 1911, the child was discharged as well and returned to its parents, but six weeks later it died, supposedly as the result of the shock from its injuries.

Shin Fong, the Chinese doctor who was called by the parents on Tuesday to attend the baby on whose body the inquest is now being held, testified that at that time the mother had told him that the child had been bitten by a "butterfly-winged cockroach," and that the child had not fallen, although the child's skull shows a circular fracture.

At the inquest last night the mother testified that she had told the doctor that the child had fallen from the sofa; the mother's ten-year-old daughter started to testify that "her mother had told her to say that the child had fallen," then she stopped and her voice ran into an unintelligible murmur which could not be heard by the Chinese interpreter. The seven-year-old son testified that he

NO MONEY FOR SOLDIER; WIFE FORCED TO BEG

Failure of Congress to Pay the Troops Drives Family to Ask Charity

WOMAN AND CHILDREN LEFT WITHOUT FUNDS

Associated Charities Gives Aid When Government Breaks Its Contract

"Although my husband is a non-commissioned officer in the United States Army and is doing active service on the mainland, I and my children are hungry, we can neither buy food nor pay our rent and are forced to beg charity in order to live," and this because the richest government in the world has failed to pay its soldiers.

This statement was made in the office of the Associated Charities to Mrs. A. C. Jordan, by an American girl born in Honolulu, who is the wife of a non-commissioned officer of higher rank in the United States Army, and on account of the failure of Congress to pass an army appropriation bill is unable to obtain money or credit to buy food for herself and her three children and until today had evicted starting her in the face.

Ordered to Coast.
The girl, who comes from an American family that has resided in Honolulu for some years, was married four years ago to a non-commissioned officer of one of the regiments then stationed here. Some months ago, her husband was ordered to the mainland and when they parted it was with the understanding that the wife was to come on to the Coast with the three children in June. But the last week in May, the president vetoed the army appropriation bill which has left the army without funds since June 1.

As the husband's stock of money dwindled, his remittances became smaller and finally ended altogether as he explained that he was totally without money. Gradually what money the wife had was used up and she was forced to fall back on her parents, who on account of their own circum-

WARRANT OUT, SO PUBLISHER FLEES TO OAHU

H. H. Tammen Wanted in Denver on Charge of Criminal Libel in City

OWNS DENVER POST AND 6-RING CIRCUS

His Partner Fined for Contempt but Visitor to Take Life Easy

Fleeing from service of a warrant calling him to appear before a Colorado tribunal upon a charge of criminal libel, H. H. Tammen, a man of millions and mines, capitalist, owner of the most widely circulated and sensational daily newspapers published in the Centennial State, the heaviest shareholder in one of America's greatest six-ringed circuses, is now a dweller in peace and quietude as a guest at the Moana Hotel.

His partner in the Denver Post, Frederick G. Bonlis, was but recently sentenced to jail and to pay a fine of $5,000 for contempt of court growing out of the libel proceedings.

"Yes, I am the publisher as well as proprietor of the Denver Post, a newspaper that comes pretty near saying just what it means," laughed Mr. Tammen, following a query launched at a Star-Bulletin man to day about the newspaper situation in the Hawaiian Islands.

"There are no strings upon us, and we generally hit right out from the shoulder when it is believed necessary."

I left Denver only a few weeks ago to avoid the serving of papers upon me, which charged criminal libel. On my arrival at the coast I simply could not avoid running into the vast amount of promotion literature sent out by your organizations here, and therefore decided on very short notice to try the Hawaiian Islands as a rest cure.

"I was on the verge of a general breakdown before leaving the Colorado capital. It was at the instance of my physician that I was induced to seek a change of scene and climate."

JOHN H. CRAIG RESIGNS FROM COMMISSION

John H. Craig, member of the liquor license commission, has tendered his resignation to Governor Frear. The Governor announces, however, that the resignation has not yet been accepted. It has been in the Governor's hands several days.

While Mr. Craig could not be located this afternoon it is understood that his principal reason for desiring to leave the commission is stress of private business. It has been known for several months that he has been wanting to resign and that he has given this as his reason.

ENGLAND WITHDRAWS FROM CONVENTION

Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., received the following cablegram from its New York office this afternoon:

"England has given notice to withdraw from the Brussels convention in 1913."

"Cables report European beet crop having favorable weather."

"Refiners supply of raw sugar is sufficient for present needs."

"Present indications lead us to believe congressional legislation on sugar will be deadlocked, or whatever may be passed will be vetoed."

E. E. Paxton, being asked what effect England's withdrawal from the convention would have, said he had not given the question much thought, but supposed it meant that England would draw more largely on Russia for her supply of sugar, which would correspondingly reduce her sugar purchases from Germany and France. As a likely result the price of sugar would decline.

The Brussels convention restricts the quantity of sugar Russia may export annually to a definite figure.

An effort to secure this concession

Army Board Plans Mean Coin For Oahu

Experts on Fortifications Meet to Consider Problems of Defense

The board of army officers which is to formulate plans for an "impregnable Oahu" held its third session this morning, the two newly arrived officers, accompanied by Lieutenant Andrews, aide de camp to the department commander, making a short tour of investigation. General Macomb, who knows every foot of Oahu, did not accompany the party. The board is the most important ever convened here.

All its deliberations and findings are, of course, strictly confidential, and no information whatever as to the recommendations to be made or the method of arriving at conclusions, will be allowed to leak out. Some of the most experienced strategical specialists in the army are at work here, making history for Hawaii and for the entire country, for that matter, and it is only when the millions of money that will undoubtedly be expended here as

Hottest Day In Eight Years; Mercury Soars On August 1

Precipitation for July Lowest since 1871 with One Exception

"Yes, believe me, it was hot for Honolulu yesterday. It was the hottest day the city has experienced in at least eight years, and possibly more, the records as to that particular point not being available for the years preceding 1904," spoke William B. Stockman, section director of the weather bureau this morning. "The mercury climbed to 86 and 7-10 degrees apparently to make amends for the cool night preceding. At any rate the range between the temperature of the night before and yesterday was 17, which was unusual, although not a record."

Mr. Stockman said that he did not think the mercury today would reach the high point of yesterday because of the cloudy sky.

The meteorological summary issued by the bureau for the month of July shows that with the exception of July, 1908, the total precipitation of 0.67 for the month was the lowest since 1871, the deficiency for the month as compared with the normal of 1.48 being 1.21. The total deficiency in precipitation for the year since Jan. 1 is 11.58 inches.

The record states incidentally and with pleasing coolness that no snow, hail or sleet fell during the month, and that there was no snow on the ground, August 1.

LATER, President Taft, added his approval to that of his subordinates and the order became effective.

The acceptance of Territorial bonds will be allowed up to par, or at their Honolulu To Get Branch Of Army And Navy Y. M. C. A.

John S. Tichenor, head secretary of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., is coming to Honolulu within a year to look over the local situation with the end in view of establishing a branch of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. here, according to Secretary Super, who held a conference with the Army and Navy Secretary in New York on the subject.

According to Secretary Super, Tichenor and William Sloane, the New York merchant and philanthropist, have discussed the matter with the authorities and Washington and have succeeded in stirring up much interest in the project. Several wealthy men on the mainland have promised to lend their aid and while definite plans have not been made as yet, according to Super, yet it is probable that a local Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. will be something more than an "aircastle."

Tichenor wants to come here within a year to look over the ground at Pearl Harbor and to see whether the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. will demand buildings or whether an Army and Navy secretary with an equipment will be sufficient.

"It will be necessary to have three branches," said Secretary Super this morning. "One at Pearl Harbor, one at Schofield Barracks and the other at Honolulu for the posts in the vicinity. There will have to be a building in Honolulu, as it will be impossible to use the present building in connection with the project at all, as the best results are not obtained by mixing the civilian and service associations."

"An army and navy secretary will be appointed by the international board, and it will be decided whether he is to be stationary or to travel from post to post."

"There is no question that an army and navy Y. M. C. A. is needed here. The things to settle are how to divide the work, where and how many buildings to erect, and whether one, two or three secretaries will be needed. All these things will be decided when Mr. Tichenor comes here."

Peter C. Jones has sold lot 12 in block 12, on Oahu avenue, College Hills, containing 20,000 square feet, with the perpetual use of a 30-foot alleyway in the rear, to Jonathan Shaw for $5500.

Julia H. Afong has sold to Sanhichi Ozaki a piece of land in Manoa Heights Addition, containing about three acres, for $3850. Mrs. Afong acquired the property by deed from F. L. Dorch in 1905.

Doesn't Travel By Wireless; Sammis Denies Weird Tale

Chief Marconi Engineer Not in Honolulu and Frisco on Same Day

Has F. Minton Sammis, chief engineer of the Marconi system in America a dual personality? Has he through his researches in the field of science, discovered a method whereby he can transmit himself by wireless between Honolulu and San Francisco, rocked in the cradle of Herizian waves?

It is up to Mr. Sammis to answer. This morning he was conversing with John Balch in the latter's office in Adams Lane in regard to plans for the great wireless station which his company will erect here. He has been in Honolulu since the first week in July and has been seen daily on the streets. Yet a San Francisco afternoon paper of the date of July 22 states that he arrived that day in San Francisco, presumably on the steamer Wilhelmina and prints quite an interview with the engineer as to the plans for the station on Oahu. The day he was interviewed in San Francisco, he was interviewed in Honolulu by a representative of the Star-Bulletin.

"If I have a dual personality of am able to project myself through space, I am not aware of the fact," said Mr. Sammis this morning. "The science of wireless has many possibilities, but we have not been able so far to induce the sparks to carry either freight or passengers. I wish we could."

KOREAN LOVER FLOUNDERING IN SEA OF TROUBLE

There is an old saying about a man's troubles beginning when he gets married, but Kim Paw's troubles date from the night of July 24 when he attempted to elope with See Mey Soong and was driven from the premises by As Soong, her father, and a shot gun.

No sooner was Ah Soong released from custody yesterday morning and freed of the charge of "assault with a deadly weapon" preferred by Kim Paw than he held a hasty conversation with Attorney Charles Chillingworth with the result that a warrant will be sworn out for Kim Paw, charging the lovesick swain with unlawfully being on the premises of Ah Soong.

The complaint further alleges that his daughter is thirteen years of age instead of eighteen, and that being a minor her invitation did not warrant Kim Paw being upon the Kahulu premises of Ah Soong.
